INTEGRATIVE MEDICINE AND PREVENTIVE CARE

"IPA's integrative health seeks to restore and maintain your health and assure your longevity by addressing your unique set of physical, emotional, mental, social and environmental factors which together affect your health."

Health is defined by the World Health Organization as a state of complete physical, mental and social wellbeing and not merely the absence of disease. IPA's integrative health seeks to restore and maintain your health and assure your longevity by addressing your unique set of physical, emotional, mental, social and environmental factors which together affect your health. Based on excellent rapport, a thorough review of your health records, a detailed executive physical as well as tests including genetic markers, our panel of practitioners personalize their care to address you as a whole. We do so using a multidisciplinary approach integrating western evidence based medicine with more traditional alternative modalities. We practice proactive, predictive medicine to assure you live long and THRIVE.

IPA's team of adjunct healthcare professionals include:

- Physical therapists
- Geneticists
- Nutritionists

- Pharmacists
- Holistic doctors
- Rehabilitation counselors

LONGEVITY MEDICINE

While so much attention is given to having adequate insurance coverage in case of unforeseen events, healthy living and measures to extending longevity are often overlooked. At IPA Health we emphasize prevention and healthy lifestyles to assure our members live long and thrive. Our scientific approach is individualized to your genetics, body composition and many other social / psychological factors. We begin with thorough executive physical examination and laboratory tests to assess your baseline. Genetic markers for coronary artery disease, cancer, stroke and other conditions are evaluated in everyone to determine means of reducing risks for all these conditions. Concentrations of several factors in our bodies change as we progressively age. IPA's longevity panel meticulously reviews all these factors and recommends modifying them to more youthful levels in order to improve your energy while reducing your risks for many health conditions. You may also choose to supplement your system with scientifically based antiaging factors. Physical trainers on our team will aid you in developing healthy exercise habits and nutritionists will guide you and your staff in eating a healthy diet specialized to your particular needs.

At IPA we look forward to taking you to your best health and keeping you there so you may thrive.

"We practice proactive, predictive medicine to assure you live long and THRIVE."

TOURISTS / HOTEL MEDICINE

We've found that most tourists or ex-patriots in a foreign country turn to their hotels or consulates for advice on healthcare providers particularly at times of emergency. Finding a leading physician or hospital for the particular health concern can be an ominous task. IPA Health offers its services on an individual basis around the globe. With our network of leading physician and hospitals, we're able to prioritize appointments and closely follow the care of your citizens until they're safely home. If staying at a hotel, we will send one of our highly qualified physicians to your room for your utmost convenience. We compile all health records and forward them to the patient's physician at home to assure optimal continuity of care. Given that most visitors to other countries have no health insurance, we negotiate costs with the healthcare providers to minimize expenses.

FOREIGN CONSULATES / CONTRACTORS

IPA Health offers its services as a group plan to all consulates / embassies across the world. We overlook their care throughout to provide continuous second and even third opinions while minimizing medical errors and assuring optimal care. We monitor their daily care to provide continuous second and even third opinions while minimizing medical errors to assure the optimal care.

IPA's panel will watch your back when traveling in isolated parts of the globe. We're able to send medics and physicians to remote environments.

When necessary, our teams will have former military qualifications from the U.S. and U.K. Former clients include traveling politicians and executives, movie locations, and oil industry explorations.
